2017 CURTIS HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATION

"It means a lot to be a Viking. It means we have attended a diverse, multi-cultural, well-rounded, rigorous high school, which happens to be the best public high school in the state of Washington, period...To many of us, myself included, being a Curtis Viking has meant that we will always have a place and people to come back to. Whenever we are struggling in life, we will always have people in our corner. No journey that we will embark on will ever be traveled alone. It does not matter when you graduated, where you are, or what you are doing because we are all united. We are united under the community of University Place. We are united under the community of Curtis Senior High School. We are united as the great Class of 2017."

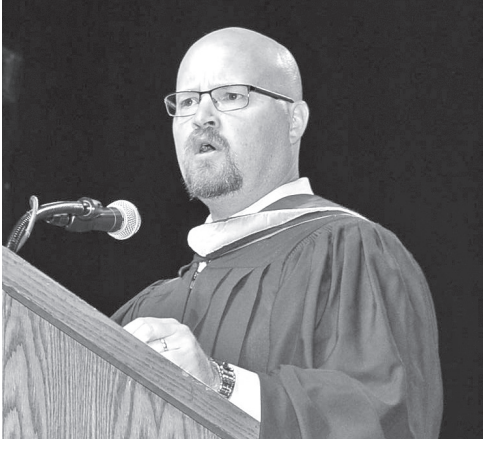

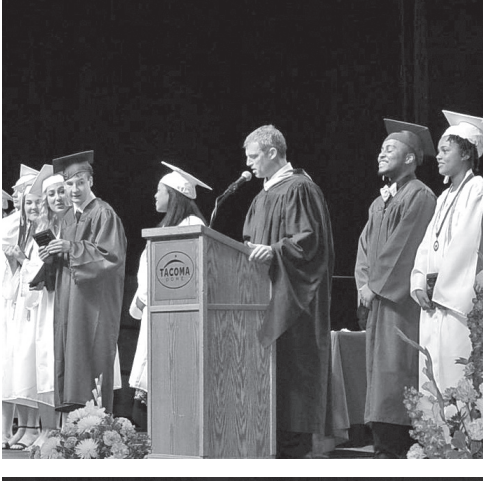

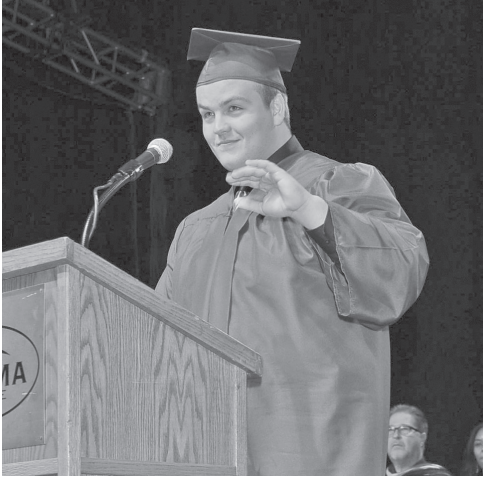

Calhoum Helmberger, Senior Class President

"Tonight we recognize and celebrate members of the diverse, talented, and accomplished class of 2017. They are driven to succeed and consistently demonstrate a genuine concern for others. The students you see before you tonight represent an elite group of young men and women. They are among the very best in our state in academics, athletics, the performing arts, and service to their community. The graduating class of 2017 consists of 399 students, over one third of whom have been together since kindergarten. Each graduate brought unique character and insight to help shape this year's class...Fifty percent of our graduates will continue their education at a college or university this fall and another twenty-six percent will be attending a community college. Class of 2017, we celebrate and congratulate each one of you; your extra-curricular, athletic, and academic achievements are impressive."

Tom Adams, Curtis High School Principal

"I hope that all of you here tonight continue to dream and continue to chase those dreams. Throughout your life your visions and goals are going to change, and that is ok. However, what is not ok is allowing someone else to change your dreams for you or tell you that you are not in control of your own destiny. Make your life a life of your making! For all of you...never lose, hide, or be ashamed of your uniqueness. You are all special, set off from one another because of who you are. Be not afraid of following your inner self, that inner voice and those unique qualities that set you apart from everyone else. Always be true to yourself. I have had the unique pleasure of getting to know most of you in one way or another. I am proud of you. We, as a Curtis staff, are proud of you."

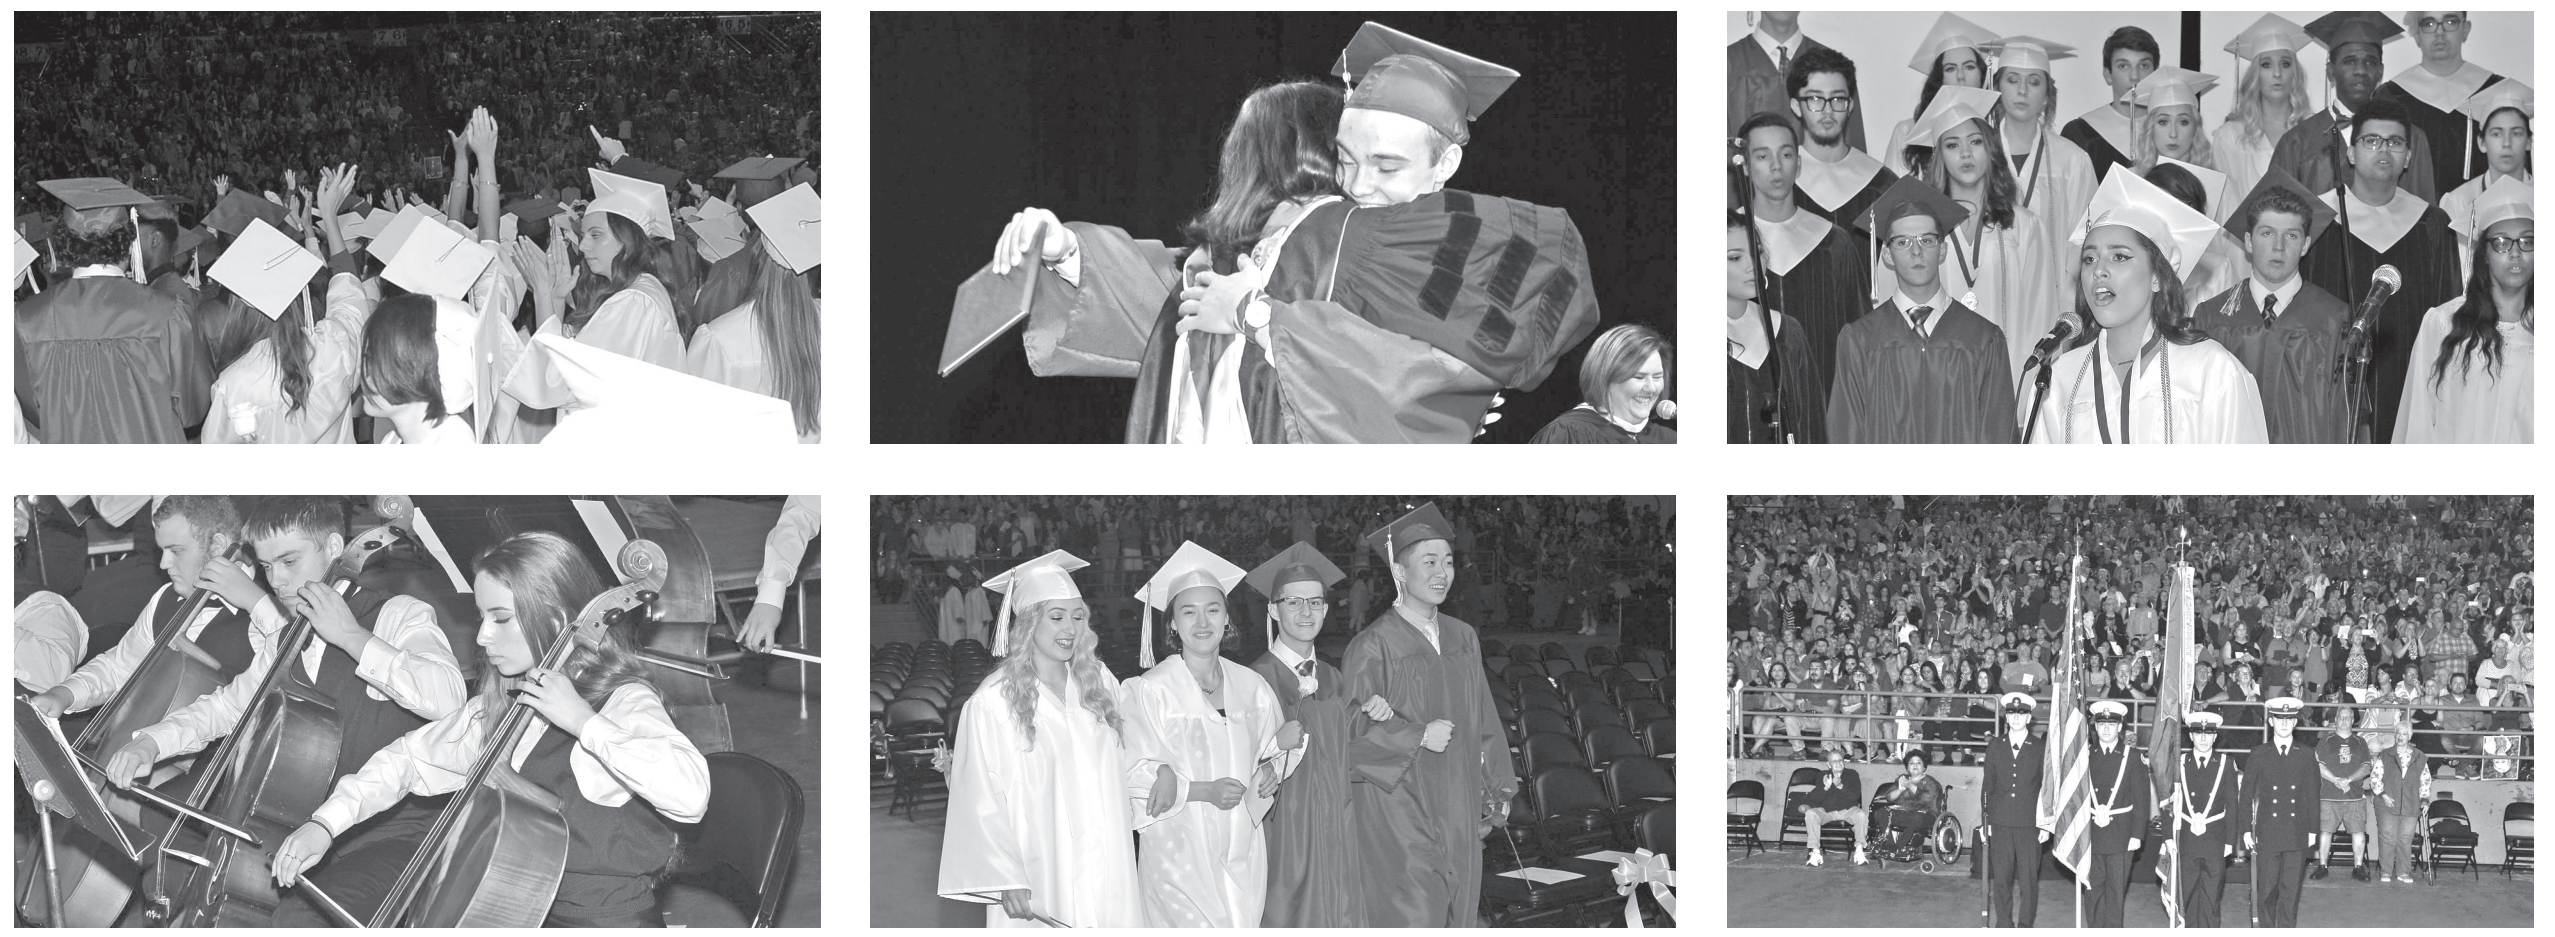

Stuart Dodge, Curtis High School History Teacher

Carolyn Mills Named Teacher of the Year for 2016-17

At her desk, surrounded by hundreds of pictures of former students, Carolyn Mills shows off her Teacher of the Year award. She has been a teacher in University Place School District for 33 years, starting her career in 1984 at Sunset Elementary, then becoming part of the first staff when Drum Intermediate opened in 1991. The award is proof of the respect she has garnered from her fellow teachers, students, and administrators. Mills gained her desire to teach from her mother while growing up in Yakima; she recently retired from a 60-year career teaching deaf children. Her own education was at the University of Washington, earning her undergraduate degree in Speech and Hearing, eventually finding her love of elementary and middle school teaching. Early in her career she coached high school tennis and—more recently—has been an assistant swimming coach at Curtis High School. She is also active as a teacher trainer and mentor.
